

Transforming Philanthropy: Insights from the 'Uncharitable' Documentary

Thank you to Armstrong McGuire!

Framing our Conversation

Key point of Uncharitable: Take the constraints off of nonprofits; allow them the freedoms we give to businesses.

Why? Because the issues the nonprofit sector is trying to solve are urgent, life-saving, and critical.

What constraints? Barriers (perceived and real) that keep nonprofits from investing generously in their people, marketing, and research

Where do the constraints come from? Sense that “sacrifice = good”.

Framing our Conversation

- How does scarcity show up for you in your nonprofit work?
- How do you lean into abundance?

Fireside Chat, Sector Leaders

Sabrina Slade
Vice President, John Rex Endowment.

Kristen Brown Smalley, J.D., LL.M.
Assistant Vice President of Gift Planning,
Duke University

Table Discussion + Ideation

- What reactions do you have to the Fireside Chat?
- What new practices or policies can you enact or propose after this conference? (aim to develop 4-6)

Thank you for attending!

